DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 and 6-11 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 3-4, 6-7 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Curtis et al (US Pat No. 6,594,472), herein after referred as Curtis.

Regarding claim 1, referring to Figs 1, 4 and 6, Curtis teaches a protective mask (front cover 2 and rear cover 3) for use with a housing (inner housing 4) of a mobile phone (radiotelephone 1) the protective mask comprising:

an upper cover body (figs. 1 and 4, front cover 2), molded to conform to the shape of the mobile phone (fig. 1), the upper cover body having a plurality of flanges (fig. 4, latching members 30s and 32s), the flanges being to be coupled to the housing

(fig. 1, element 4) of the mobile phone to retain the upper cover body to the housing (see figs 1 and 4; col. 1, ln 64-col. 2, ln 5; and col. 4, lns 4-34); and a lower cover body (figs. 1 and 6, rear cover 3), molded to conform to the shape of the mobile phone (fig. 1), the lower cover body adapted to be coupled to the mobile phone to retain the lower cover body to the housing (see figs 1 and 6; col. 2, lns 6-9; and col. 4, lns 41-63);

wherein said upper and lower cover bodies are retained to the housing of the mobile phone (see fig 1; col. 1, ln 64-col. 2, ln 9; and col. 4, lns 4-64).

As to claims 3-4, 6-7 and 9-10, Curtis teaches the invention substantially as claimed that previously cited in rejection of claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 8 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Curtis et al (US Pat No. 6,594,472).

As to claims 2, 8 and 11, Curtis differs from claimed invention in which it does not teach patterns, types, or nameplates can be printed on the upper and lower cover bodies. However printing patterns, types, or nameplates on said upper and lower cover bodies would be a matter of ordinary engineering choice (MPEP, 716.01(a), 716.01(b) and 716.01(c), that fully relies on a normal capability of a person of ordinary skill in the art.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The following patents are cited to further show the state of the art in general:

U.S. Pat. No. 6,842,633
